School Psychology and Education Specialists

Dr. Joe Utay, a graduate of Pitt, has been a counselor, psychologist, family therapist, author, national speaker, teacher, clinic director and father. He earned tenure as a professor training school counselors, marriage and family therapists, and school psychologists; and is now Director of Counseling and Evaluation Services for Total Learning Centers.

Dr. Carol Utay, also a graduate of Pitt, has experience as a Principal, teacher, computer trainer, national speaker, adjunct professor, author, and mother. With a doctorate in education, she has trained thousands of teachers and parents to help children achieve success and feel good about themselves. She is Executive Director of Total Learning Centers. Joe and Carol live and work in Wexford with their daughter Andrea.

“Does my son have a problem or I am I just worrying too much?”

“Should we retain our son?”

“My husband and I have different parenting styles. Is this confusing our kids?”

“How do I use this summer to help my son and daughter be better prepared for next year?”

The question is not IF you wonder about issues like these, but rather are you getting answers relevant to your own situation allowing you to then take some action?

Opportunity is knocking in the form of this column as a chance to ask your questions. All letters will be answered and those most potentially helpful to others in our community will be printed.

Take advantage of our many years of experience helping children, adolescents, their families and schools. We don't have all the answers but would love to share information and ideas that may be helpful to the emotional and educational well being of your child.

Please ask!

You can mail your question with as many details as you wish (though it may need to be edited for publication), to:
